

Great Places to Live

Retirement and Relocation Guide

May | June 2008

3 things your kids
will love you for in Grand Islands, Nebraska

Learning golf at Reynolds Plantation
is "Taylor Made"

Community Life
Keeping kids safe and happy

Retirement & Relocation
Calling all artists in Chattanooga, Tennessee

Borgo di Vagli

Located in the heart of the Tuscan countryside, Borgo di Vagli is a quaint, meticulously restored 14th century Hamlet surrounded by a protected area of olive groves, fruit trees and ancient oaks. From the terraces, you can enjoy panoramic views of the breathtaking Tuscan hills, including a spectacular view of the 10th century Pierle castle.

Borgo di Vagli is the result of a ten-year restoration project conceived and executed by renowned restoration engineer Fulvio Di Rosa (well known for having designed Frances Mayes home, author of "Under the Tuscan Sun"), Fulvio's efforts have allowed Borgo di Vagli to maintain much of its original feel, atmosphere, and charm, without compromising modern day comforts. Borgo di Vagli is not for everyone. It is for those who enjoy the charm of ducking under 600 years old low doorways, catching scenic views through small windows cut through thick stone walls, and dining in a traditional candlelit Trattoria.

For those who love the authentic Tuscan experience, Borgo di Vagli now offers a unique and affordable ownership opportunity. This fractional ownership resort enables owners to enjoy virtually unlimited vacations in your Tuscan country home for a fraction of the price of whole ownership. Ownership for one bedrooms begin at 60,000 euros and two-bedrooms for $90,000 euros.

